E7: Large Construction Purchase of Crane for EHS building with Perkins Grant Funding: Kevin Gordon, Emery High's Welding Instructor, explained the original desire for the new CTE shop to have a crane. Local industry leaders have given their support and desire to have students taught to use a crane with basic rigging knowledge. Many of our local industry hires students from Emery High. Because of the timing of the new school being built and the desire to implement a crane in the shop area, the infrastructure of the building was designed for this from the beginning. However, grant funding needed to be applied for and received before it was a reality. Emery has been awarded $103,000 in Federal Perkins CTE funding. This Special Perkins grant amount was based on the original pricing two years ago. Since then, adjustments have been made making the final purchase $117,103. A motion to approve the purchase was made by James Winn with a second from Todd Huntington. Motion was passed unanimously.

E8: Utah State Auditing Risk Assessment: All state entities are required to fill out the Auditing Risk Assessment that categorizes the entity in a level of Risk based on several factors. Emery School District maintains the "Low" Risk level. By state law, this must be presented to the board. Royd Hatt motioned to approve the score with James Winn as the second motion. All members voted to approve.

E9: Renewal of Business Administrator: The motion to reappoint Jackie Allred as the Business Administrator was made by Todd Huntington and seconded by James Winn. All approved.

He earned a Doctoral degree from Idaho State University and his Bachelor and Masters from BYU.

REPORTS:

F1: Superintendent Report: Dr. James Shank is grateful to be Emery's new superintendent and is excited to work with the staff.

E2: Business report: Jackie Allred reported that the Business Office has once again received the prestigious GFOA and ASBO awards for the FY23 Annual Comprehensive Financial Report. This was the sixteenth year the District has received both awards which are very difficult to receive. The Business office has also been contacted by USBE for an Internal Control monitoring process in June/July.

E3: Board Committee reports: Todd Huntington met with the CRA committee and finalized language in RDA contracts. The solar installation has been started on the Moore Road. It is currently considered the eighth largest solar project in the state consisting about 1 million panels. It is scheduled to be online in 2026. The Hornshadow solar project is about half the size of the Moore project. James Winn attended the USBA board meeting and is also on the legislative and bylaws committees. They planned the legislator day, Day on the Hill and trying to involve more legislators to be in the classrooms. Most of the conference discussion was on the SJR10 amendment or Earmark funding, but the official position was not changed from “conditional support”. Royd Hatt and James Winn met as an audit committee for budget review and Superintendent hiring. Kenzi Guymon, along with other members, attended the negotiation committee meetings. All members were involved in hiring the new Superintendent.

PUBLIC COMMENTS (F):

Doug Mecham also recognized the Employees of the Year for School Year 23-24. This item was delayed from last month in order to present the recipients at their schools with friends and family. The following individuals were awarded:

- Elementary Teacher of the Year: Tricia Zwahlen
- Secondary Teacher of the Year: Jodi Sitterud
- Classified Employee of the Year: Brett Guymon
- Volunteer of the Year: LaRae Leamaster

Neal Peacock commented that it has been hard to watch the old Emery High building be torn down and to recognize the emotions in the community. Common sense says that we needed a new building. Neal’s grandpa was part of the board that combined North and South Emery as Emery High. Mr. Peacock was a teacher at Emery High for 38 years and feels like he’s losing an old friend. Todd Huntington and Julie Johansen also commented on the loss of the old building. Wayne Maxfield confirmed that while the infrastructure was in dire need to change, it is hard to see a part of the community change. Jackie Allred also included that it was for the emotional ties of the community that the camera was set up so that the community could watch the demo.
